

Tree Pro Tree Shelters

James L. McConnell
U.S. Forest Service-Retired

Tree shelters or tree protectors are a new tool for planted or young trees. Current research shows that they increase growth and survival and promote straightness in many tree species. Research reported in the Journal of Forestry shows that tree protectors can increase tree height over 600 percent just the first two years. They act as a mini-greehouse around the tree. Research reports that planting survival is also increased in many cases.

Tree Pro is a brand name and have many advantages over other types of tree shelters.
